Are you aware what your children are doing on internet?

What is cyber bullying? Cyber bullying is where a person or a group of people are purposely and persistently being mean to another person using social networking and phone messaging.

What parents can do to help their child when they are being bullied:

Teach kids to solve problems without using violence and praise them when they do.

Give children positive feedback when they behave well to help their build self-esteem. Help give them the self-confidence to stand up for what they believe in.

Ask your children about their day and listen to them talk about school, social events, their classmates, and any problems they have.

Kids who are being bullied are most likely to:

- Do poorly in school
- Have low self-esteem
- Be depressed
- Turn to violent behavior to protect themselves.
- Get revenge on the bully

Facts about Cyber-bullying:

Nearly 43% of kids are being bullied online every year.

70% of students report seeing frequent bullying online.

90% of teens who have seen social media bullying say they have ignored it.

Only 1 in 10 victims will inform a parent or trusted adult of their abuse.

Girls are about twice as likely as boys to be victims and committers of cyber bullying.

Cyber bullying can take various forms:

- Messaging hateful or irritating words.
- Photo editing: where someone gets a photo and puts a nasty comment about the person or the persons family. Eg. Memes
- Anonymous messaging: people sending messages to someone without the victim knowing who this person is.
- Hate pages: where someone makes a page about someone else and makes nasty comments about them on that page for everyone to see.
- Impersonation: where someone sends horrible messages to another person pretending to be someone else to get that other person in trouble for it
- Groups: where groups of people gather together and target a person or group of people over messages etc.
- Outing: where people have private conversations that they don't want anyone else to know and then when those two people fall out the private information is revealed to everyone about that person
- Blackmail: when someone threatens someone to do something otherwise they will do something horrible to them or about them
- Exposing: when someone sends a personal picture to someone and that other person shows it to everybody.
- Hacking: when someone finds out the username and password to someone's account and logs into it and writes horrible comments about someone and posts horrible pictures etc.

Thank you for being Amy's teacher this year. You are an excellent teacher. You know how to deal with students and develop their skills, and the proof of that is Amy's love for you from the first month and that she wants to go to school for you.

Thank you for not sparing your time and effort to educate my daughter and trying to complete what she lacks. When I send you any email or tell you that Amy did not understand anything, you explain it again to her without any objection. Indeed, Really thank you for you

Dear Teachers,

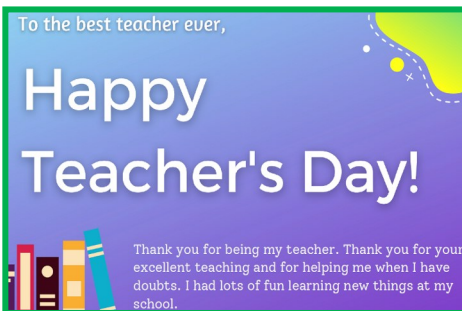

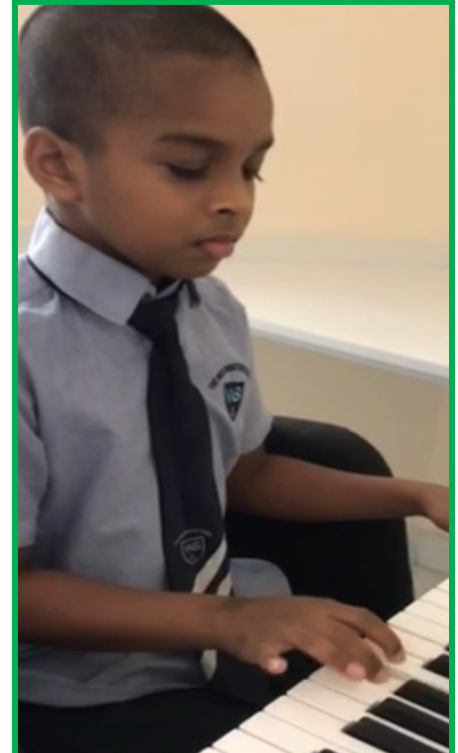

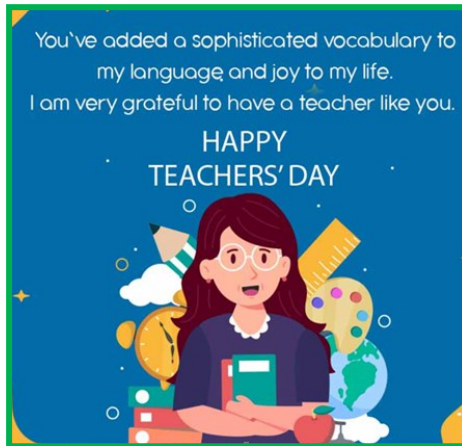

As the kids rush back into school routines filled with homework and studying, we can't help but be thankful for the ones who sacrifice so much to educate the next generation. And with so many of our normal back-to-school rhythms looking different (again!) this year, we see and appreciate even more how much it takes to educate our kids. Since last year, teachers have found safe ways for kids to come back into classrooms, learned how to teach classes of all grade levels online, and constantly connected with students when they can't communicate with on a daily basis. Teachers are our everyday heroes. How many of us can think of at least one or more teachers that impacted us and maybe even inspired us to be and do the thing that we are doing as our passion today. Teachers do so much more than plan fun educational activities that keep our children occupied each day and teach them what they need to know to pass tests. They actually have the power to inspire and change the course of the lives they impact for so much good !!!

Kindly accept my little token of appreciation.
Have a wonderful Teacher's Day !!

The below messages are from my current form class Year 10 BS.

Dear Miss Nirmala

You have been a kind and very supportive class teacher throughout my current year. You have been patient and taught us a lot of "amazing" rules about our "favorite" school. I really hope you end up with better students... Well because, you know the students in our class (A bit crazy). But with that aside I just wanted to say thank you so much Ms.Nirmala for you one handling our classroom and giving us a very fun experience this term and what has yet to come. You are the best class teacher in grade 9 and I appreciate your kindness towards us. Thanks for being the GREAT teacher you are.

This is a note to all my past and current teachers

Happy teachers day!!!! You all are such wonderful teachers and thank you so much for helping me get through our school. Since I joined here all the teachers have been so kind to me and my classmates, although we were a bit troublesome they still forgave us at the end, which, I say thanks a lot because if it weren't for you, my 3 warning letters may have gotten me kicked out of the school... But this is for real, I appreciate all your efforts and help to drive us into the right path to our future, Have a great teachers day and I hope this message will brighten it up ever more!!!!

This is my work miss, you are such a good teacher and I really appreciate everything you do for me and our class :D

Below is a Noom project workshop. The instructions and materials were sent by Art Dubai. Students were asked to imagine a new planet named Noom, which doesn't have our global warming or environmental problems. Students had to imagine that world and create a design for towers or transportations that can be used on Noom.

Bullying is the use of force, coercion, hurtful teasing or threat, to abuse, aggressively dominate or intimidate. The behaviour is often repeated and habitual. Bullying can take many forms, but all forms of bullying cause harm or worse. Even if there is no physical contact between a bully and their target, people who are bullied may carry the emotional damage of what they experienced for the rest of their lives. That is why it is important to put a stop to bullying.

If you are being bullied, then there are things you can do to deal with the bully. If you witness bullying, then there are things you can do to stand up for someone else. You can also work to raise awareness among your peers and learn about the different ways that you can ask for help.

WAYS TO DEAL WITH BULLY:

- Walk away.
- Tell someone so the bully will stop.
- Tell the bully to stop if you feel safe doing so.
- Stay calm.

WAYS TO HELP SOMEONE WHO IS BEING BULLIED:

- Take immediate action.
- Separate the bully and the person being bullied if you can.
- Take bullying seriously.
